

Message for the Bahá'í Community of Canberra celebrating Bahá'u'lláh

I send my best wishes to the Bahá'í Community of Canberra on the bicentenary of the birth of their prophet and founder, Bahá'u'lláh. In the two hundred years since the birth of Bahá'u'lláh, the Bahá'í Faith has spread across the globe attracting millions of adherents.

The Bahá'í Faith was first brought to Canberra in 1951 by Mrs Pym Trueman, and since then the followers of Bahá'u'lláh have flourished into the wonderful Bahá'í Community of Canberra celebrating today.

I have deep respect for the values of unity and equality expressed by Bahá'u'lláh, and am thankful for the Bahá'í Community's continued contributions which have greatly enriched the Australian Capital Territory.

Congratulations to the Bahá'í Community of Canberra on this special day of celebration.

Sincerely,

Alistair Coe MLA
